

Bosnia and Herzegovina Customs Cost CFP 2200G

Article Overview

Customs costs in Bosnia and Herzegovina for CFP 2200G depend on the product's tariff classification, customs value, and applicable duty rates, which can be estimated using the national tariff schedule and valuation rules.

Determining Customs Costs

- Tariff Classification Every imported product must be assigned a Harmonized System (HS) code according to the Bosnia and Herzegovina 2025 Customs Tariff (). The HS code determines the standard duty rate and any preferential rates if the product originates from the EU ().
- Customs Value The customs value is the basis for calculating duties and is generally the transaction value of the goods, including the cost of the product, shipping, and insurance (). Bosnia and Herzegovina follows the WTO GATT Article VII guidelines for valuation, ensuring impartial and standardized assessment ().
- Duty Rates
 - Standard duty rates vary by product category and can range from 0% to over 20%, depending on the type of goods ().
 - Products originating from the EU may benefit from reduced rates, sometimes up to 90% lower than the standard rate, depending on trade agreements ().
 - Certain equipment imported for production, modernization, or foreign investment purposes may be exempt from customs duties if approved by the customs authority ().
