

Chinese Fiber Optic Connector Manufacturers

Article Overview

China is a leading global producer of fiber optic connectors, with top manufacturers including FiberHome, Sunsea AIoT, T&S Communications, and Gcabling, offering solutions for FTTH, data centers, and high-density applications.

Leading Manufacturers and Their Specialties

1. FiberHome – Based in Wuhan's “Optics Valley,” FiberHome is a state-owned enterprise supplying China's major telecom operators. They specialize in high-quality fast connectors for large-scale national networks and long-haul applications, with insertion losses consistently below 0.3dB, making them ideal for mission-critical infrastructure .
2. Sunsea AIoT – Formerly Sunsea Communications, this company focuses on high-volume FTTH deployments. Their automated production lines can manufacture millions of connectors monthly, and their mechanical splice technology reduces installation time by up to 60% compared to traditional fusion splicing .
3. T&S Communications – Known for premium applications such as data centers and high-density installations, T&S specializes in ceramic ferrule manufacturing, achieving geometric tolerances below 0.5 microns. They offer MPO high-density connection solutions and a wide range of optical communication products .
