

German Electricity Meter and Distribution Box Manufacturer

Article Overview

EMH metering GmbH & Co. KG and EFR GmbH are leading German manufacturers of electricity meters and distribution boxes, offering smart metering solutions for residential, commercial, and industrial applications.

EMH Metering GmbH & Co. KG

EMH metering, based in Gallin, Germany, is a pioneer in digital electricity meters and one of the world's leading manufacturers of load profile and industrial meters. Their product portfolio includes:

- FNN base meters for standard metering
 - High-precision meters for industrial and commercial applications
 - Smart meter gateways (CASA) certified by the German Federal Office for Information Security (BSI)
 - E-mobility charging meters and intelligent metering systems for smart meter rollouts
- EMH produces all devices entirely in Germany, ensuring high quality, short delivery times, and flexibility in production. Their meters are widely used in Germany, with one out of two meters for load profile metering manufactured at their Gallin facility. EMH also provides DIN rail meters and compact designs suitable for space-saving installations.
