

How much does Cambodia Huijue optical cable cost

Article Overview

The cost of Cambodia Huijue optical cable varies widely depending on specifications, quantity, and supplier, typically ranging from $0.50 to $3 per meter for standard fiber optic cables.

Market Overview

Optical cables in Cambodia are imported and locally supplied, with major imports coming from China, Vietnam, and the United States. In 2024, Cambodia imported $24.8 million worth of optical fibers and cables, reflecting strong demand for telecommunications infrastructure and network expansion (OEC World Trade data). Suppliers in Cambodia include both local distributors and international manufacturers, with platforms like Alibaba listing hundreds of fiber optic cable suppliers for the Cambodian market.

Factors Affecting Cost

- Cable Type and Specifications: Single-mode (G.652D, G.657A2) and multi-mode fibers, core count (24, 48, 144), and attenuation rates significantly influence price.
- Protective Features: Outdoor cables with moisture-resistant gel filling, reinforced jackets, or armored designs cost more due to durability requirements.
- Technology: Advanced technologies like GPON or XGS-PON support higher bandwidth but increase unit cost.
- Order Volume: Bulk purchases (e.g., over 100 km) often receive discounts, reducing per-meter cost.
