

Photovoltaic Power Station Cable Tray Quotation

Article Overview

To obtain a quotation for cable trays for a PV power station, you need to provide system specifications, cable layout, and preferred material to suppliers like Eaton, MPHusky, Huge Energy, or Snake Tray.

Steps to Request a Quotation

- Prepare System Details Include the total length of cable runs, number of circuits, voltage levels, and layout sketches. This helps suppliers provide accurate pricing and recommendations for cable tray types and sizes .
- Select Cable Tray Type and Material
 - Ladder-type trays: Stainless steel or aluminum, suitable for heavy loads and outdoor PV installations, offering fire resistance and long-term durability .
 - Aluminum trays: Lightweight, easy to install, and corrosion-resistant, ideal for rooftop or ground-mounted PV systems .
 - Snake Tray systems: Patented modular trays for utility-scale PV installations, hand-bendable, weatherproof, and compliant with NEC 310.15 code .
- Include Accessories and Customization Optional covers, connectors, support brackets, and ice guards can be requested to meet specific routing and environmental requirements .
- Contact Suppliers
 - Eaton: Use their quotation checklist and contact technical support via email or phone for guidance .
