Article Overview

Nordic electrical distribution boxes typically range from €200 to over €1,500 depending on specifications, materials, and features.

Price Range and Factors

- Type and Capacity: Residential single-phase cabinets are generally less expensive, while commercial or industrial three-phase systems with higher amperage and multiple circuits cost more ().
- Material and Durability: Boxes made from hot-dipped galvanized steel, UV-resistant thermoplastics, or stainless steel hardware are more expensive due to enhanced durability and weather resistance ().
- Features: Advanced features such as smart monitoring, remote control, integrated safety systems, and modular designs increase the price ().
- Environmental Rating: Outdoor or weatherproof enclosures (IP44 or higher) cost more than indoor-only units ().
- Compliance and Certification: Units meeting Nordic electrical standards, ANSI C57.12.28, or other safety certifications may carry a premium ().
