

Top-tier brand optical power meter brands

Article Overview

Top optical power meter brands include Gentec Electro-Optics, Jonard, QWORK, and M2 Optics, offering reliable, accurate, and versatile devices for fiber optic and laser applications.

Leading Brands and Manufacturers

- Gentec Electro-Optics: Known for a wide range of laser power meters, including ultracompact photodiode-based devices for microwatt levels and thermal detectors for high-power applications, suitable for laboratory and industrial use .
- Jonard: Offers high-precision fiber optic power meters like the FPM-50A, covering -50 to +26 dBm across 850–1650 nm wavelengths, with durable, portable designs and essential accessories for field testing .
- QWORK: Provides versatile meters with universal 2.5mm interfaces compatible with FC, SC, and ST connectors, supporting multiple calibration wavelengths and long battery life for extended field use .
- M2 Optics: Specializes in optical fiber testing equipment, including network simulators and WDM solutions, with a focus on professional-grade optical power meters .

Recommended Models

- Mini 4-in-1 Portable Optical Power Meter with Visual Fault Locator: Compact, lightweight, supports 800–1700 nm wavelengths, multiple connector types, and powered by AA batteries, ideal for field technicians .
