

Which company in Australia offers fiberglass cable trays

Article Overview

Ferrotech Pacific and FIBRETRAY are among the top Australian manufacturers of high-quality fiberglass cable trays, offering durable, corrosion-resistant solutions for industrial and commercial applications.

Leading Australian Manufacturers

Ferrotech Pacific is a Melbourne-based company specializing in FRP (fiberglass-reinforced plastic) gratings and cable trays. Their products are designed to withstand harsh Australian conditions, including UV exposure, salt, and heavy loads. Ferrotech's trays are fire-resistant, non-conductive, and compliant with Australian standards, making them suitable for mining, oil and gas, and industrial projects. They provide end-to-end solutions, including handrails, stair treads, and complete FRP walkway systems. FIBRETRAY focuses on fiberglass-reinforced plastic (FRP) cable trays engineered for anti-corrosion, high strength, and flame retardance. Their trays are lightweight yet durable, with a service life 5–6 times longer than steel equivalents. FIBRETRAY offers both polyester and vinyl ester resin systems, pultruded sections, and a full range of accessories, making them ideal for power plants, chemical plants, and other critical environments. Their products are designed for overhead, floor, or wall-mounted installations, providing flexibility for diverse project requirements.
